A little piece of Eden in Florida’s panhandle, where a stately mansion is surrounded by vibrant gardens. The focal point of this park is the beautifully renovated, two-story house with elegant white columns and wrap around porch. In a setting of moss-draped live oaks, the 1897 mansion recalls a prosperous era before the virgin forests of longleaf pine and cypress were exhausted in this part of the state. In 1963, Lois Maxon bought and renovated the home, creating a showplace for her family heirlooms and antiques.

The "Friends" was formed for the express purpose of providing critically needed assistance to the park staff. Eden Gardens State Park has a historic home, extensive gardens and grounds, a picnic area on Tucker Bayou and an event pavilion, all of which require considerable "elbow grease" to keep in show condition. The Friends have contributed tens of thousands of hours of lovingly given labor to Eden Gardens. And they have raised the funds needed for maintenance and improvements throughout the park.

We certainly welcome new members who wish to help us keep this historic place so beautiful. Currently, the Friends number about three hundred enthusiastic helpers.
